

Notice of Race
Santana 23 National Championship Regatta
Johnson Lake Yacht Club, Lexington, Nebraska
July 6-7-8, 2007

Johnson Lake is a man made water storage reservoir in central Nebraska. With just over 3000 acres it is a wide open lake perfect for sailing in the great Nebraska winds. Water level is maintained at the full level throughout the summer. There are three boat ramps and the lake is deep enough for keel boats. More information on JLYC and the recreational opportunities can be found at <http://www.supersail.com/jlyc/>

Rules: The regatta will be governed by the current Racing Rules of Sailing, the prescriptions of the US Sailing Association, the Santana 23 Class Constitution and Bylaws, (except as any of these are altered by the Sailing Instructions) and by the Sailing Instructions. A copy of the Santana 23 constitution and bylaws will be sent to each S-23 skipper pre-registering. The Santana 23's will hold a National Class Assn meeting on July 7, 2007 to conduct the business of the class. The Johnson Lake Yacht Club recognizes the possible variations in Santana 23 sailboats and sails, and would like to allow some flexibility in measurements while still upholding the one-design nature of the class.
